MISFORTUNE MET BY SUPERSTITION

Belief Of Bad Luck On Friday Causes Loss Of Feet

S. GREGORY WALKS FOR 50 YEARS ON WOODEN FEET

TOURIST FROM COLORADO TELLS INTERESTING STORY OF ACCIDENT OF BOYHOOD DAYS.

As a result, indirectly, of the old superstition concerning the bad luck of beginning a thing on Friday, S. Gregory, one of the tourists lately arrived at the Young hotel, has walked for 50 years on artificial feet. So accustomed has he become, however, to this unnatural condition that an observer can scarcely detect anything unusual in his manner of walking around.

Mr. Gregory is a business man of Trinidad, Colorado, and has become so favorably impressed with Honolulu that he is seriously thinking of making some investments in real estate here. He is a talkative, entertaining gentleman and discusses the loss of his feet as cheerfully as though it were not much of a misfortune, after all. He readily consented to talk of the matter for publication.

When a boy Mr. Gregory lived on a farm. He did not like that calling and concluded to learn the trade of cutting stone. He had finished his apprenticeship at the age of 18 years, and had obtained a steady job at his trade. Circumstances were such that he would most conveniently begin his permanent employment on Friday, but this was considered by him, as by people generally, as being a very unlucky thing to do, so he postponed it until the following Monday.

Mr. Gregory had been so accustomed to work every day except Sunday that the enforced idleness of the Friday which he had deemed to be so unlucky was worrisome to him. Thus when he met a farmer who wanted a man to help him thresh grain on Saturday, he offered his services, which were readily accepted.

Saturday, and not Friday, proved to be a day of ill-luck for Mr. Gregory. While helping feed the grain into the machine he stepped onto the platform in front of the buzzing teeth, and, accidentally slipping, both feet were carried into the thrasher. A doctor was immediately called, and after looking at the mangled limbs, he told the boy's folks that he could not live many hours. But he went to work, nevertheless, to remove the feet, cutting the left leg off half way between the foot and the knee, and removing all of the right foot, with the exception of a portion of the heel, which has since proved to be an inconvenience. After a time the boy rallied and became healthy and strong, with the exception of the loss he had suffered.

Artificial limbs were provided for the unfortunate young man, and with some difficulty he learned to use them. He is now 69 years of age, and he walked the deck of the Sierra on her recent stormy trip from San Francisco almost as conveniently as the younger passengers whose limbs were sound.

In spite of his early misfortune, Mr. Gregory has spent an active and moderately successful life. His son, the only near relative still living, is a successful Colorado banker, and as the father is thus almost alone in the world he is planning to retire from business soon and devote the remainder of his life to rest and recreation.

This Honolulu country is just the kind of a place I have been looking for for a long time, but I do not expect to remain here more than a few weeks this time," said Mr. Gregory.

"I have traveled through the Southern States in search of a warm climate to my liking, but I have never before been perfectly suited. When I went to Mobile, ice froze on the water while I was there, and I felt colder than I do in Colorado, so I left that place in a hurry. I like Havana quite well, but it is not as good as this place. Los Angeles is quite nice, too, but the climate does not suit me like it does here in Honolulu. I tell you this place is all right, there is no doubt about it."

STRAIGHTENING STREETS

Editor Evening Bulletin:—If not too late I desire to call the attention of the Superintendent of Public Works and the several improvement clubs to the proposition of the Public Works department to dispose of the government holdings on the Waikiki-mauka corner of King and Bethel streets.

At the time the Waverly building was put up the frontage thereof was made to align with the mauka Ewa corner of Bethel and King streets.

A line continued from the Bethel street frontage of the postoffice would intersect with the corner of the old Hopp & Co. building.

In view of these conditions and the fact that there are not now any valuable improvements on the Waikiki side of Bethel street, why does not the Public Works Department negotiate with the owners of the old Castle & Cooke property and induce them to take over the store that would make Bethel from Hotel to King streets a straight street and thereby prevent the ten or twelve feet jog there would be, were the gore to be sold to the property on Waikiki side as at present contemplated?

Mrs. F. H. Humphris entertained at dinner in his honor on Wednesday and a tea was given him by Mrs. C. Heide mann. It is hoped he will return in a year's time. His absence is much regretted by hosts of friends.

Rev. and Mrs. William Cleveland are guests of the Rev. Alex. Mackintosh and Miss von Holt. They have been engaged in work among the Indians.

Mr. Lyon, a brother of Mrs. Albert Raas, is spending a few days in Honolulu en route for the Orient on the Mongolia.

Among the arrivals on the Siberia were Senator Isenberg, Mr. and Mrs. A. Robinson, R. C. A. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Schultze, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woodburn, of Boise, Idaho, and many others.

Mr. Ozawa, a prominent Japanese, was a passenger for the Orient. He was given a rousing send-off.

The floral parade is being eagerly looked forward to. The Pau riders will be a great attraction. Mrs. Kamahua Stillman will assist the riders in draping their picturesque skirts.

CREW HEARS SAD NEWS

When the Nippon Maru arrived in Honolulu officers received the news for the first time that Mrs. Mary Musgrove, formerly stewardess of the Maru, and who was to take up her old work again after the vessel should arrive on the Coast, had gone down with the Valencia. They were pained to hear the sad news, but pleased to learn of her heroic conduct at the hour of death. Mrs. Musgrove was given permission to serve on the one trip of the Valencia in place of the regular stewardess, that she might earn money to purchase suitable wearing apparel for work on the Nippon Maru.

CARTER TO REPORT

The President has directed Governor Carter to report on the petition of J. A. Cummins, who wants remitted the fine of $5,000 imposed on him by court martial in 1895. The following letter bearing on the matter has been received:

The White House, Washington, January 20, 1906.
My Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 30, with enclosure, and to state that by direction of the President it has been referred to Governor Carter for report. Very truly yours,

WM. LOEH, JR.,
Secretary to the President.

Mr. J. A. Cummins, Honolulu, H. I.
Her Husband:—"You are naturally of a pessimistic disposition. I don't believe I ever saw you happy." His Wife:—"That's easily explained." Her Husband:—"Well, how do you explain it?" His Wife:—"You never saw me before I met you."
